

Janco Embraces Challenges from New Instant Noodles Business

07/12/2018

Recently, Janco has signed a warehouse service contract with Nissin Foods (H.K.) Management Co. Ltd., a major player in the local instant noodle market with brands “Demae Itcho” and “Doll”, to provide warehousing and various valued-added services to their instant noodle products. Management expects to bring food-related storage and management experience to the logistics team and prepare the team for the upcoming businesses from different industries.

On top of the past experience in climate-controlled warehousing and cold storage for pharmaceutical products, our top management would like to gain more experiences related to frozen food warehousing and strengthen our capabilities in cold chain logistics by leveraging the co-operation with Nissin. We hope such co-operation can bring along with more development directions and opportunities to our logistics team.