

Disclaimer Notice- Transportation of Coronavirus Protection Gear

27/03/2020

Due to the spread of the new Coronavirus (COVID-19) around the world, exports of surgical masks, protection gear and other medical supplies have increased dramatically over the last few months. Countries and regions have certain surveillance and guidelines for epidemic prevention supplies. With the epidemic situation are unforeseeable and unpredictable, Janco Group has made the following changes to the export freight settlement and exemption clauses of surgical masks, protective gears and other medical supplies, as follows:

(1) Evacuation supplies such as masks and protective gears must be prepaid before shipping space is arranged.

(2) Janco Group is not responsible for expropriation or confiscation of surgical masks, protective gears and other medical supplies during transit, including at transit or destination ports by customs, government departments or third parties.

Janco will carefully monitor the fluid situation. Please kindly contact our staff for details before booking a space, thank you for your understanding and support
